

the hole for the post will have to be about two feet deep and will be filled with concrete to support the bench and prevent it from floating away in a flood. the cylinder in this picture represents the concrete base.

